

CAMH and NCCIH film screening (webinar) - Considering impacts of and responses to climate change through participatory filmmaking: Youth perspectives from Yellowknife and the experiences of the Philippines Indigenous diaspora in Toronto

Home Base Yellowknife is a community organization that supports young people who are experiencing homelessness, housing instability, or other forms of marginalization in the Northwest Territories.

Connect with the Home Base Yellowknife:

Website - homebaseyk.com

Facebook – Home Base Yellowknife

*Presenter bios for Change
(A participatory action project by Home Base Yellowknife)*

Elder Ruth Mercredi is a Dene Elder, Knowledge Keeper, and traditional healer based in Yellowknife, Northwest Territories. She provides culturally grounded counseling and healing services and is highly respected for her resilience and dedication to passing down traditional land-based teachings. She has spoken both nationally and internationally about the fundamental connection between Indigenous health and environmental protection.

National Collaborating Centre
for Indigenous Health
Centre de collaboration nationale
de la santé autochtone

Brian Machona is a Mental Health and Addictions professional with a passion for youth empowerment, community development, and using creative arts as a tool for education, healing, and social change. Through his work with youth-focused initiatives and music-based programs, Brian advocates for meaningful engagement on issues affecting communities, including mental health, culture, and climate change. His contribution to this climate change music project reflects his commitment to raising awareness, fostering dialogue, and inspiring action through the power of music and storytelling.

Northwyne Remigio is a Yellowknife born and raised Hip-hop/R&B/Pop artist and producer. He is part of music group Ice Cold Collective where he writes lyrics, produces, and records songs. He has performed at events such as Folk on the Rocks, Yellowknife Pride, Snow King, and other local events.

Jordan Kataluk carries himself with kindness and respect in every situation. He values listening to others, staying calm, and treating people with care.

Narlie Dapilos is a proud Filipino born and raised in Yellowknife, NT. As an artist he goes by the name of "Narlz B", which originated from a childhood nickname but also represents a moment in his life where he could truly "B" himself. Inspired by various life experiences and influenced by various music genres, Narlz B's music can be found on all music streaming platforms. Narlie has always had a passion for creative writing, poetry, and lyric making, and sharing this talent with others. Outside of music, Narlie coaches youth basketball, owns a consulting business, and is an avid trading card collector.

The National Collaborating Centre for Indigenous Health (NCCIH)
3333 University Way
Prince George, B.C.
V2N 4Z9 Canada

Tel: (250) 960-5250
Email: nccih@unbc.ca
Web: nccih.ca

Le Centre de collaboration nationale de la santé
autochtone (CCNSA)
3333 University Way
Prince George (C. - B.)
V2N 4Z9 Canada

Tél : 250 960-5250
Courriel : ccnsa@unbc.ca
Site web : ccnsa.ca

© 2026 The National Collaborating Centre for Indigenous Health (NCCIH). This publication was funded by the NCCIH and made possible through a financial contribution from Health Canada and the Public Health Agency of Canada (PHAC). The views expressed herein do not necessarily represent the views of Health Canada or PHAC.

National Collaborating Centre
for Indigenous Health
Centre de collaboration nationale
de la santé autochtone

